

Children Give Patriotic Programs

Colonial Tea Is Friday Feature at the Vilas School.

Vilas school children played hostesses Friday afternoon to their friends and parents with a Colonial tea at the school. Prettily painted invitations, made by the scholars, had been sent out during the week and a large number of guests were present. Many of the school girls were dressed in the pretty kerchiefs, powdered hair, and paniers of the revolutionary period. Preceding the tea, patriotic programs were given in the various rooms.

In the first grade the program opened with two songs by the pupils. Love's Mel Langford recited "What February Brings." Brookline Stone recited "The Red, White and Blue." Chaucer Holmes recited "Good Advice," and Herman Andrews gave "A Riddle, the Flag." "Just Remember," was recited by Edna Green, and the class sang "Forward March," and "George Washington." A flag drill with recitation was given by three children, John Tighe, Billy Lindauer and Louis Bryant.

Closing the program the class sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America," and gave the salute to the flag.

In High Third and Low Fourth. The program in the high third and low fourth grade opened with a flag song by the class. Josephine Thornton recited "The Cherry Tree." The school sang "George Washington" and Katherine Tighe recited "George Washington's Birthday." "Flag of Our Nation," "Washington's Birthday," and "Soldiers" were sung by the class. Martha Hirt recited "Our Flag," John Cowley's selection was "George Washington." Thelma Ballin gave "A Talk With Grandpa." "Like Washington" was recited by Mildred Lefkowitz and the program finished with the singing of "America" by the entire room.

The high first, low second and low third grades united in their exercises. A song, "George Washington," sung by all the children, opened the program, followed by the recitation by the children in concert of "Flag of Our Country." A recitation, "George Washington," was given by Lyle Webster. "The Grand Old Flag" was recited by Edna Krupp. Cora Slater and Carolyn Brown. A recitation, "This is the Flag for Me" was given by Mary Mason Hamrick. Ruth McDowell and Ewell Griffin. Lewis Howell read the story of "Washington and the Cherry Tree." "Washington's Life" was recited by Ewing Waterhouse, Arthur March, Robert Binford, Bonnie Winkler and Owen Terry.

The class sang the "Song of the Soldier," "Soldiers Three," "America," "Our Flag," "Buzle song" and "Marching Song."

Readings and recitations in the fourth grade were given by Orville Oxford, Maybeth Bowman, Billy Cooke, Albert Oute, Anna Bell Gray, George Hall, Melville Chernis and Isidor Goodman. Life of little George Washington was narrated by John Ledbetter and a flag recitation was given by Elizabeth Morris and Walter Berkshire. Each pupil in the class gave a short selection "On Memory of Washington" and the national hymns were sung by the class.

Fifth Grade Program. In the fifth grade Katherine Seamon recited "Our Flag and My Flag." "The Grave of Washington" was recited by John Burrows and Agnes Steiskel gave the story of Washington. The class sang "American Freedom," "The American Flag," "Patriotism," "The Star Spangled Banner," "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and "America."

The sixth grade pupils opened their program with a roll call answered by quotations and maxims of Washington. Lillian Coonan gave a reading on the characteristics of Washington. "Washington's Address to his Troops" was read by Leslie Lynch. Frank Gillette gave a recitation, "Like Washington," and Vincenta Lindauer told a Colonial story. "Our Colors" was recited by Homer Wilson, Bernardo Bowman and William Caples.

In the low seventh grade a hymn for Washington's birthday, sung by the class, opened the program and patriotic quotations were given by Fredericka Kipp, Katherine Earle and Alice Dickinson.

Patriotic Questions Answered. Questions and answers about things patriotic were given in a make believe school with Helen Beisswenger as the teacher and Ted Cooley, Channing Brown, Ewald Kipp, Horace Walter, James McKensie, Carl Beisswenger, Nathan Cordova, Raymond Selby, Iola Buchanan, Hazel Robinson, Edie Hubbard, Sammie Liveley, Edith Ford and Mildred Lowenberg as pupils.

Ida Krupp recited "Our First Flag." The story of George Washington was recited by Rosa Crowder, David Goodman, Harland Irvin, Guyler Macruder, Helen Beisswenger, Julia Buchanan, "Washington's Life" Krupp, Mary McCann, Sue Bell Neely, Geneva Stearns and Frieda Laskin.

Magruder recited "In the Good Old Days," and the singing of "My Dream of the U. S. A." completed the exercises.

Webster's oration on the "Twenty Second of February" was read by Max Seamon, in the celebration by the high school and low eighth grades. "Washington's Life" was read by Hazel Capron, Gertrude Miller, Maria Hume, Evelyn Scott and Gladys Booth. Readings were given by Lefoy Schuler, Elizabeth Woodson, Gerald Houch, George Cross, Edna Rhodes and Thelma Spinnell. The program closed with the singing of patriotic songs.

"My Dream of the U. S. A." was the opening number of the high eighth grade program and biographies on the life of Washington, one of the domestic science teachers, in her paper on "Food which contributes to the best mental and moral development and those which harm most." Mrs. M. Nagle discussed the meaning of fatigue, irritability, nervousness and untidiness in children and school, showing that they are not receiving the proper physical care. She stated that scientific information proves that these conditions are the reflexes of wrong physical conditions, the danger signals of the body.

The responsibility of the mother was the subject of Mrs. D. E. H. Manigault's talk, and the responsibility of teachers was talked of by Mrs. J. A. Brick, of the Sunset school teachers, closing the program. A vocal selection, "The Sweetest Flower That Grows" by Lieber, was sung by Mrs. R. J. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Pearce.

PHYSICAL LIFE OF CHILD DISCUSSED

Value and Effect of Food Upon Children Is Considered at Meeting of Parent-Teacher Association.

The program of the Parent-Teacher association of the Sunset school which met Friday afternoon, was devoted to a discussion of the physical life of the child. Mrs. Paul Heermans read a paper on the dependence of the mental and moral life of an individual upon the physical condition. The value of food and its effect were discussed by Miss Jane Lieber, who is a domestic science teacher, in her paper on "Food which contributes to the best mental and moral development and those which harm most." Mrs. M. Nagle discussed the meaning of fatigue, irritability, nervousness and untidiness in children and school, showing that they are not receiving the proper physical care. She stated that scientific information proves that these conditions are the reflexes of wrong physical conditions, the danger signals of the body.

The responsibility of the mother was the subject of Mrs. D. E. H. Manigault's talk, and the responsibility of teachers was talked of by Mrs. J. A. ## SUNSET CHILDREN RENDER A PROGRAM

After Patriotic Observance of Washington's Birthday at the Sunset School. Painted in the School Yard.

At the Sunset school Friday afternoon Washington's birthday was observed with a program combining patriotic features with Arbor day observance and the placing of a tree on the school grounds. The program opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Our Colors" by the pupils giving the flag salute at the close of the national anthem. Then the first grade pupils sang "The Song of the Soldiers." "Our Flag" was recited in unison by the second grade and "George Washington" by the third grade. The fifth grade recited "The American Flag." "For Freedom" was the selection given by the fourth and fifth grades. "The Dream of the U. S. A." was sung by the sixth and seventh grades followed by "Where the flag is full of stars." This closed the day's observance and the balance of the program was devoted to Arbor day. The first, second and third grade children sang "Arbor Day" and after them the sixth and seventh grades gave an Arbor day song and recited an invocation. Dorla Wettkopf recited "What does he plant who plants a tree?" Samuel Middleton recited "Plant in the Spring Time." The tree was planted, each pupil of the sixth and seventh grades putting in a shovelful of earth. The program closed with the entire school singing "America."

LEON RICE PLEASES WITH HIS SINGING

Famous New York Tenor Entertains Large and Appreciative Audience at First Baptist Church.

Leon Rice, tenor, extraordinary, walked out under the pulpit arch at the First Baptist church Thursday evening, his wife, Jennie Caesar Rice, struck a cord on the grand piano and the famous New York tenor sang for two hours like a nightingale singing for the sheer love of the musical joy he was creating.

The first of a series of two concerts Thursday night was an extraordinary as is the tenor's mellow voice. There was no admission charge to hear this singer who has charmed thousands of New York music lovers. There were no temperamental fits to his voice or manners, he is not a chorus tenor but a big healthy robust American man who gives to his music the dignity of a man's work. It was like a chamber concert with Mr. and Mrs. Rice entertaining a party of their friends with their music. He explained his songs before singing them. He smiled as he explained that he sang the good, old religious hymn, "Ninety and Nine," to 3,000,000 people in the land. When he sang "The Rosary" he brought a mental picture to every mind of a rosary "as a string of pearls."

He closed his program with a promise to sing "The Holy City" tonight.
